" To bring together the records of the past and to house them in buildings where they will be preserved for the use of men living in the future, a nation must believe in three things. It must believe in the past. It must believe in the future. It must, above all, believe in the capacity of its people so to learn from the past that they can gain in judgment for the creation of the future."

FRANKLIN DELANO ROOSEVELT

FOREWORD

American historians have made great progress in the past few decades. But many problems still remain unsolved, many sources have not been examined. The Historical Records Survey of the Work Projects Administration has endeavored to call attention to these sources, so that the historians of the future may paint a better picture of our national heritage.

Two years ago the Arkansas division of the Historical Records Survey commenced publication of a series dealing with the county records of the State. Eighteen of these inventories have been published to date. Several months ago the Survey began to publish guides to source material in addition to the county inventories. This particular volume, a directory of the more than 7,000 churches in the State of Arkansas, is the third publication of the church division of the Survey. We believe that both ministers and laymen will recognize its immediate and everlasting value. The University of Arkansas, through its College of Arts and Sciences, is pleased indeed to sponsor such a worthwhile project.

H. M. Hosford, Dean
College of Arts and Sciences

PREFACE

By authority of the President, the Historical Records Survey of the Work Projects Administration was initiated as a Nation-wide undertaking in January 1936. The objective was to make accessible for research and other public purposes, by means of printed inventories, guides and calendars, the masses of unpublished official documents and other non-public materials containing useful information on all phases of American civilization.

The Historical Records Survey was organized in Arkansas in 1936. On September 1, 1939, it was transformed into a locally sponsored, State-wide Project with Howard H. Jacoway as State Supervisor. Raymond Foster succeeded Mr. Jacoway as State Supervisor, September 5, 1940. The Project is sponsored by the College of Arts and Sciences of the University of Arkansas with the county judges throughout the State as co-sponsors.

The inventory of Church Archives is one of the important parts of the Historical Records Survey. A Church Archives department was organized in November 1939, with an office staff and field research workers under the direction of Dr. J. Olson Anders, Assistant State Supervisor, who directed the church survey until March 30, 1942, when he was given an assignment with the United States Government. The survey has since been under the supervision of Cyrus J. Shaw, Assistant State Supervisor.

In the preparation of inventories of Church Archives, it became evident from the beginning that a directory, listing all churches, their denominational affiliation, and location, would serve as a guide and greatly facilitate the work of the survey program.

The source material on churches listed in the directory was obtained by research in Church Archives, in printed collections and by personal interviews. Only active churches are listed. The arrangement is by denominations and their ecclesiastical subdivisions, based largely on the classification of the United States Census of Religious Bodies. Although every effort has been made to give a listing which is complete and accurate, a small number of congregations were difficult to properly classify, particularly in rural areas where the congregation was made up of more than one denomination, cooperating on a sort of temporary federated basis. Most of the groups within the congregation were listed by their respective denominational affiliations. In cases where the denominational affiliations were not clearly defined the congregation was listed as an independent church.

It can truly be said that the inventory of church records in Arkansas has yielded a rich and prolific source of information touching almost every phase of the early history of every community in the State and should become an inviting guide to further research. This directory will surely indicate the magnitude of religious work in Arkansas, the depth and breadth of popular interest and commitment, and by implication, some of the factors which have contributed to the growth of new sects, cults, and independent congregations.

Preface

Acknowledgment of our deep appreciation is hereby made to the many church officials who have given us their cooperation and assistance. If we should attempt to give due acknowledgement to all who have contributed to the preparation and publication of this directory, the list of the acknowledgements would probably exceed the length of the directory. Special credit should be given to Dr. Anders and his entire editorial staff which includes Rev. E. O. Hodges and Rev. W. G. Shemwell of the State Office and Rev. Raymond J. Green, Rev. Samuel S. Taylor and Rev. George G. Walker of the colored unit.

Publications of the Survey are distributed to State and local libraries, to a limited number of agencies outside the State, and to each county judge in Arkansas. Requests for information concerning any of the inventories should be addressed to the State Supervisor, War Memorial Building, Little Rock, Arkansas, or to Dr. H. H. Hosford, Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, Arkansas. The Survey will, at all times, welcome criticisms or suggestions for improvement of its publications.
